CBI

CBI, Transforming Trade Together supports the transition towards inclusive and sustainable economies. CBI helps small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) to strengthen their economic, social and environmental sustainability, by helping them export products and services to Europe and regional markets. CBI works in over 30 countries and 14 sectors. CBI is recognized worldwide as a leading force in export development.

In Ethiopia, CBI has been working in the Fresh Fruit and Vegetables sector since 2021. In the Transitioning Ethiopian Horticulture to a Sustainable Export Alternative (To SEA) – project, CBI is coaching and guiding 13 Ethiopian SMEs to gain access to the European and Gulf Region markets. Ethiopia has a wide range of fruit and vegetables, such as avocados, green beans and mangoes, with great market potential. The project specifically focuses on export of F&V in the newly developing sea-freight corridors from Ethiopia.

VegBox Horticulture PLC

VegBox Horticulture – Sustainable, Community-Centred Farming in southern Ethiopia

At VegBox Horticulture, we farm with nature, not against it. Our regenerative methods restore soil health, preserve biodiversity, and protect precious water resources. But sustainability for us means more than farming—it's about people.

Since establishing the farm in 2018, we have created about 150 jobs and started farming on 200 to 300 ha, 30 of which are drip irrigated. By building a road and a local school, we intend to strengthen our community, and we're now constructing a water canal to support nearby smallholder farmers. VegBox Horticulture is proud to be GLOBALG.A.P., GRASP and Food Security Standard (FOSSEM Advanced) certified, three rigorous third-party audited recognition of our commitment to food safety and security, environmental stewardship, worker welfare, human rights and full traceability from field to table.

Our export quality products are: Papaya, Passionfruit, Eggplant, Sweet Corn, Lemongrass, Red Cabbage, Cassava and other vegetables.
