The supply potential of the wine sector in Bolivia

Bolivia offers opportunities for European wine importers. 99% of all Bolivian vineyards are situated at an altitude between 1,600 and 3,000 metres above sea level. There is no other wine production country in the world with these characteristics. And there are many ancestral vineyards with vines of more than 200 years old. Importers can use the study on this page to find out what Bolivia has to offer as a wine exporter. The study includes information about for example types of wines, wine regions and business culture. The study also contains the contact details of all wineries in the country.
