

CBI
Ministry of Foreign Affairs

Which trends offer opportunities on the European metal parts and components market?

The main opportunity for exporters from Developing Countries lies in the provision of solutions for European buyers. Although competition remains fierce, exporters offering competitive prices combined with reliable delivery, flexibility and compliance with corporate social responsibility (CSR) and other new supplier evaluation criteria will be in the best position to benefit.