

Which trends offer opportunities on the European vegetable oils market?

Last updated:

05 September 2016

Vegetable oil demand in Europe is shaped by the health and wellness trend, sustainable sourcing, shorter supply chains and consumer interest in exotic products. The European market offers opportunities for emerging speciality oils, and is also affected by discussions on food safety and trans-fatty acids.